

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a thermoplastic resin composition capable for being used for skin materials of automotive interior parts comprising a base composition comprising a polypropylene resin, an olefin
5 copolymer rubber, a processing oil, and a low-density polyethylene resin or a high-density polyethylene resin; an organic peroxide crosslinking agent; a crosslinking aid; and polytetrafluoroethylene resin.